Unlike other city landmarks named after animals, why not gather them all, designate a circle or area named after the alligator, and keep them occupied there!

Real life humorous story: Cartooning and WhatsApp.

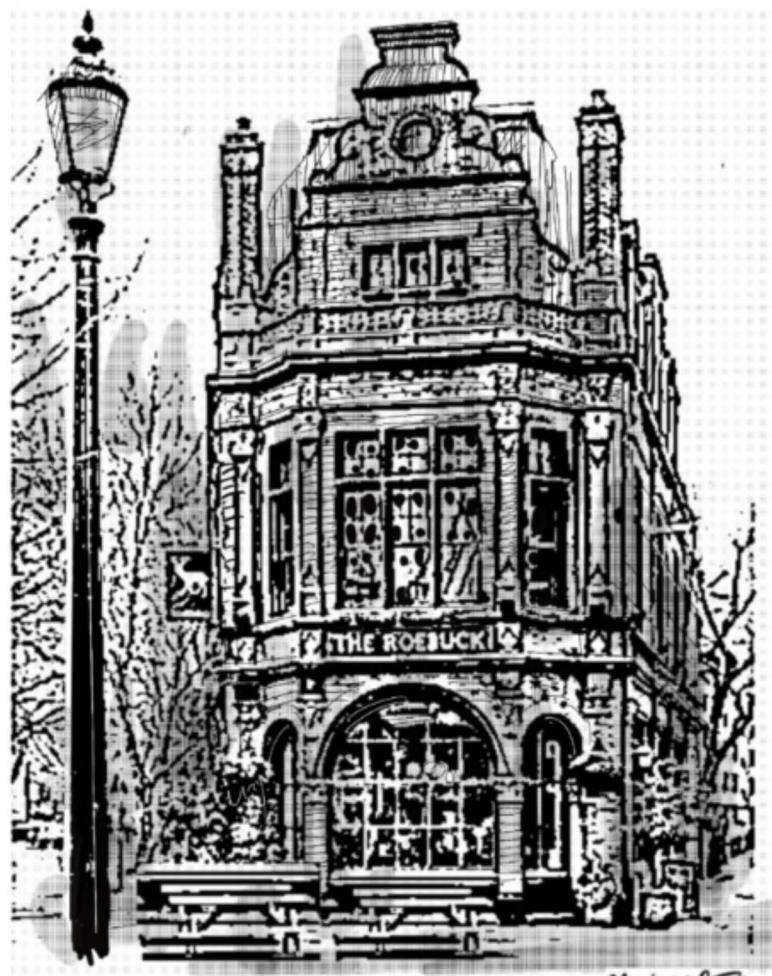

Cartooning is indeed a powerful medium for conveying messages through satire, humor, and artistic expression. Its unique combination of visual storytelling and clever commentary allows it to entertain while addressing social, political, and cultural issues. By simplifying complex topics in a non-offensive way, cartoons can resonate with a wide audience, including local communities, making important ideas accessible and engaging. This dual purpose of both entertaining and informing is what makes cartooning such an effective and impactful art form.

I don't see any entertainment value in the meeting—there are no arguments, allegations, fights, or mudslinging!
